Product Description

TD series terminals block

The TD series wiring terminal is formed by plugging and connecting two parts. One part compresses the wire and then plugs it into the other part, which is welded to the PCB board. The mechanical principle of the bottom and the anti-vibration design ensure the long-term airtight connection of the product and service reliability of the finished product. Both ends of the socket can be equipped with matching ears, which can protect the connector to a great extent.

1. TD series terminal blocks are made of thermosetting plastics, and the safety factor of large current is more reliable. The structural parts are made of plate screw crimping technology.
2. The rated AC voltage is 600V.
3. The rated current of connecting conductive sheets is 15A, 20A, 30A, 60A, 100A, 150A, 200A.
4. The cross section of the connecting wire is 6-200mm², which is the current largest intercepting flow terminal.
5. According to the arrangement, it is divided into 10P and other can be customized.
6. Flat screw mounting.

Product Features:

1. The outer casing is made of thermosetting plastics.
2. Copper conductor, good electrical conductivity, nickel-plated / tin-plated corrosion.
3. Dust-proof and transparent plastic protective cover for durability.

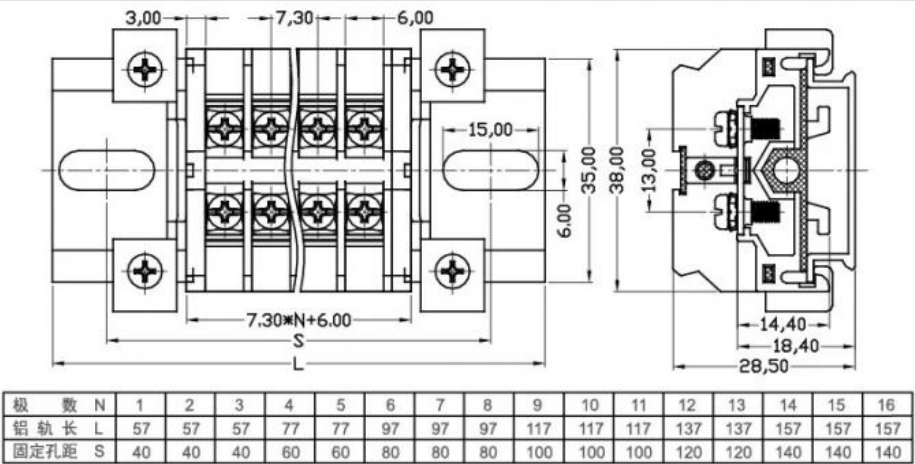

Advantages:

1. High-quality conductive material for products.
2. Its surface is nickel plated that is very resistant to oxidation and corrosion.
3. Flame-retardant shell, with the characteristics of dustproof and impact resistance.
4. Rugged construction protects wire connectors for a long time.
5. Plastic parts are an environmentally friendly material that is easily degraded.
